The American Floral Endowment (AFE) is a non-profit organization dedicated to advancing the industry through funding floriculture research, educational grants, and scholarships.

The success of the floral industry depends on the availability of healthy, long-lasting flowers and plants. Your tax-deductible donation to AFE helps make that possible.

CHAIRMAN'S MESSAGE

Dear Industry Friends,

It is a real pleasure to introduce AFE's 50th Anniversary Program.

Fifty years ago, the Society of American Florists Endowment (now the American Floral Endowment - after several name changes) was incorporated under the laws of the District of Columbia.

In 1961, the late Charles Pennock of The Pennock Company in Philadelphia, conceived an idea of establishing an industry-wide research and educational endowment. Because of his foresight, the Endowment has grown to what it has become today.

After AFE's first 25 years, the Endowment's Corpus topped $3 million. Since then, and over the last 25 years, with the help of the industry and industry friends, we are pleased to report that the AFE Corpus has grown to over $12 million. Research funding since AFE's inception has reached more than $14 million, and close to $500,000 has been provided in scholarships to attract and retain future industry leaders.

As you look through AFE's 50th Anniversary Program, I hope you will gain a greater understanding of the far-reaching impact of your contributions. During these especially difficult times, it's more important than ever to support the needs of our industry as a whole.

On behalf of the AFE Board of Trustees and the entire floral industry, I wish to thank all of our AFE supporters who are listed in this program. Your gifts help the Endowment fund the scientific research, scholarships, educational grants, and public benefits research, which are so vital to the industry.

Thank you for your continued investment in the future of floral commerce and the people who participate in it.

Sincerely,

AFE's FIRST 50 YEARS

Celebrating 50 Years

Funding Industry Solutions Through
Research and Education

1961 The Society of American Florists Endowment (SAFE) is incorporated. Six trustees administer the organization on a volunteer-basis. Charles Pennock is the group's first chairman; his home in Pipersville, Pa., serves as the base of operations. John Henry Dudley is named treasurer. Contributor and financial records are maintained in his office at the John Henry Company in Lansing, Mich.

1965 Files and secretarial duties are turned over to Erma Houston (Cook), the executive director of the Wholesale Florists and Florist Suppliers of America. Houston is named assistant secretary; she holds the position until 1968.

1966 SAFE is granted an exemption from federal income tax, making contributions tax deductible.

1968 Records and secretarial functions are moved to the Society of American Florists' office. John H. Walker is executive director.

1973 The Endowment's first national Phone-a-thon is conducted, raising nearly $500,000 in cash and pledges. The fundraiser is conducted every five years through 2005. Betty Seitz Abrams becomes liaison between SAF and SAFE.

1973 George Staby, Ph.D., receives funding toward his research on the post-harvest cold chain, which ultimately results in the "Chain of Life" program. Gus De Hertogh, Ph.D., the Endowment's research coordinator, calls this research "among the most important projects the Endowment has ever helped fund."

1978 Florists' Mutual Insurance Company – known today as Hortica Insurance – offers to digitally store Endowment contributor records at its headquarters in Edwardsville, Ill.

1979 Abrams is named executive director. Operations are centralized at her home in Edwardsville until she retires in 1993.

1984 Trustees change the organization's name to the American Florists Endowment. Two years later, in 1986, they change the name again, this time to the American Floral Endowment.

1988 The Endowment announces it has awarded more than $2.2 million in grant funding since its inception. The Endowment's corpus exceeds $3 million.

1992 Vic and Margaret Ball give $800,000 to AFE to provide internships and scholarships for students interested in pursuing careers in greenhouse production. The donation represents the largest in the group's history.

AFE's FIRST 50 YEARS

1993 The Trustees purchase a building as the headquarters for the Endowment in Edwardsville.

1993 At the time of Abrams retirement, Bob Stoeckl is hired as executive vice president. Scientific research and educational programs expand significantly.

1995 AFE establishes its website, www.endowment.org. The site is upgraded in 2001 and again in 2010.

1997 The corpus grows to about $9 million. Grant funding grows to about $5 million.

1999 Steven F. Martinez is hired as executive director. Gus De Hertogh, Ph.D., is retained as AFE Research Coordinator.

2001 In honor of former chairman Jim Botsis, the Endowment establishes the Jim Botsis Wholesaler's Educational Program to benefit wholesalers. For the next 10 years, the Endowment gives $2,500 to the Wholesaler Florists & Florist Supplier Association for educational programming.

2005 Operations move to Hortica headquarters in Edwardsville, Ill. Hortica management assumes oversight responsibilities for AFE's operations and staff.

2006 AFE and the Floral Industry Research and Scholarship Trust (FIRST) merge. AFE is now able to offer over 18 additional scholarships.

2006 Industry veteran Sten Crissey is hired as vice president of development and industry relations. Julie Schottel is hired as administrator.

2008 Trustees transfer AFE management to the Society of American Florists. The AFE office is moved to SAF headquarters in Alexandria, VA. Longtime SAF staff member Debi Aker is named manager.

2008 In honor of her parents, Lee Phillip Bell gives $500,000 to establish the James and Helen Phillip Scholarship Fund. The fund supports young people who aspire to a career in retail floral design and operations.

2010 The market value of the Endowment corpus stands at about $12 million. Since 1961, the Endowment has funded $14 million toward research and provided close to $500,000 in scholarships and internships. The Endowment announces its first Paul Ecke Jr. MS/PhD scholarship.

PRODUCTION AND POST-HARVEST RESEARCH FUNDING

For 50 years, the Endowment has funded Production and Post-Harvest Scientific Research Projects. This research provides essential knowledge for a growing and dynamic floricultural industry.

The complex and diverse structure of the industry makes it difficult for single entities or individuals to support highly comprehensive research programs. The Endowment, however, allows all industry representatives regardless of size to contribute and assure continuous industry-related research and, thus, maintain a strong, vibrant floriculture industry.

Who benefits from a strong floral industry?

The answer is simple – Everyone!

The primary research priorities are listed below. They are focused on all floricultural crops – bedding plants, fresh cut flowers, fresh cut greens, flowering potted plants, and foliage plants.

Primary Production and Post-Harvest Research Priorities:

1. Plant Breeding and Genetic Engineering of Floriculture Crops
2. Management Systems for Diseases of Floriculture Crops
3. Management Systems for Insects Affecting Floriculture Crops
4. Management Protocols for Floriculture Crops
5. Post-Harvest Management Systems for Floriculture Crops

Some of the many AFE research projects that have directly benefited you and your business:

- Improving Cut Flower Longevity
- Best Care and Handling Practices
- Pest and Disease Management
- Production Technologies

Currently Funded Research

Breeding and Genetics

- Engineering Fungal Resistance in Bedding Plants using a Gene for Mannitol Dehydrogenase.

Dr. John Williamson, North Carolina State University

Insect Management

- Whitefly Preference for Poinsettia Cultivars.

Dr. Luis Canas, Ohio State University

- Effect of Pesticide Mixtures in Controlling Arthropod Pests of Greenhouses.

Dr. Raymond Cloyd, Kansas State University

Disease Management

- Preventing Powdery and Downey Mildews from Ruining Flower Crops.

Dr. Mary Hausbeck, Michigan State University and Margery Daughtrey, Cornell University-LIHREC

Post-Production

- Providing Practical Solutions to Increase Fresh Cut Flower Quality and Vase Life.

Dr. Terril Nell, University of Florida, Gainesville

Production Technology/Protocols

- Irrigation Automation in Greenhouses Using Substrate Moisture Sensors.

Dr. Stephanie Burnett, University of Maine

- Energy Efficient and Sustainable Poinsettia Production.

Dr. Robert Lopez, Purdue University

- Silicon Nutrition in Flower Crop Production: Potential for Increasing Rooting, Improved Post-Harvest Performance, and Decreased Disease Incidence.

Dr. Neil Mattson, Cornell University

Did you know that there are more than 300 final research reports posted on the AFE Website?

AFE FUNDED RESEARCH & SCHOLARSHIPS

Public Benefits Research

In addition to funding scientific research, the Endowment also funds Public Benefits Research. Both avenues of research are needed for a strong and healthy industry.

Although continual improvements in floricultural crop quality, yield, and longevity can be made, these factors alone will not guarantee that the products will enhance the lives of consumers. Due to the scale and complexity of the industry, very few firms can afford to conduct meaningful Public Benefits Research. Consequently, the Endowment enables the industry to conduct research on the impact of floral products and services on people and the environment to discover information that can enhance the public's experience with these products and services, and that the industry can use to better meet the market's needs.

What types of Public Benefits Research are required to ensure that the floral industry thrives and meets the expectations of all its segments and consumers? Just as with Scientific Research, the answer is not simple and the needs change over time. The AFE Board of Trustees fully understands this challenge. Before yearly funding decisions are made, they receive input from many industry and scientific sources. Thus, industry needs and research projects drive the funding process.

Priority Areas for Research Proposals

The basic research priorities are listed below. They are focused on all floricultural crops – bedding plants, fresh cut flowers, fresh cut greens, flowering potted plants, and foliage plants.

The Basic Research Priorities are:

1. Impact on the giver and receiver, floral relative to other gifts
2. Perceptions of floral/plant gifts versus alternatives
3. Influence of floral products on an individual's physical or emotional health
4. Influence of floral products on social interaction
5. Impact of floral products on the environment (e.g., improved air quality, removal of chemical runoff)
6. Determinants of satisfaction with a floral/plant purchase
7. Motives and barriers for utilization of floral products
8. Other categories will be considered

Paul Ecke Jr. MS/PhD Scholarship

This merit-based, prestigious scholarship has been funded by contributions to AFE from the floral industry and other sources. The Scholarship honors the late Mr. Paul Ecke, Jr. of Encinitas, Calif. who made indispensable contributions to the advancement of the global floriculture industry. Among his many interests was concern for the future of floriculture, as influenced by innovative research and educational programs. He recognized that creative scientists and educators are required to lead the floral industry in the 21st century and beyond. Thus, the primary objective of the Paul Ecke Jr. Scholarship is to assist in funding the education of graduate students (MS or PhD) who will become leading floricultural scientists and educators.

AFE Floriculture Scholarships

In 2006, the Floriculture Industry Research and Scholarship Trust (FIRST) merged with the AFE. FIRST was known for funding a wide range of research projects, and administering a variety of scholarship funds named and designated for the full spectrum of floriculture interests.

Since then, AFE has continued to administer and award scholarships to students entering the floriculture/horticulture industry. Today, there are 21 active scholarships under this program which are awarded each year. Individual scholarships range from $200 - $3,500 each. For more information about the scholarships, visit www.endowment.org.

AFE Internships & Scholarships

The Endowment supports educational programs focused on attracting young people to the industry, and educational endeavors to identify and solve industry needs and/or challenges. AFE offers floriculture scholarship and paid internship scholarship programs to assist students interested in the floriculture/horticulture profession.

AFE FUNDED SCHOLARSHIPS & GRANTS

The Vic and Margaret Ball Intern Scholarship

In 1992, Vic & Margaret Ball established a floriculture internship program with a major gift to the AFE. Their desire was to attract students to floriculture and make meaningful work experience in production part of a complete education.

Vic and Margaret Ball

Vic and Margaret Ball's interest in student training stems from their close involvement with the DuPage Horticultural School, for which they provided leadership and direction. Having observed first-hand the educational value of work-study, which served as a cornerstone of that highly respected program, they established the Internship Program to assure continuance of practical experience opportunities. In the words of the late Vic Ball, "We want to impress upon students the importance of hands-on growing experience and provide a chance to incorporate this too often missing link in an otherwise excellent training program."

Internships are available for a period of six, four, or three months.

Mosmiller Intern Scholarship

Named in honor of the Colonel and Mrs. Walter E. Mosmiller, Jr., this scholarship is geared toward business students planning careers in the floral industry focused on a retail/wholesale experience. Students receive paid training for 10-12 weeks, and a $2,000 scholarship upon successful completion.

Colonel Mosmiller, a past chairman of the Endowment and a former retail florist in Richmond, Virginia, demonstrated a strong, lifelong interest in professional training and encouraged young people to pursue careers in the floral industry. The Endowment established this program to honor the Mosmillers and express a meaningful extension of their industry dedication.

Educational Grants – Building A Stronger Floriculture Industry

The AFE Education Committee annually reviews and approves funding for educational programs to promote the floriculture industry. The majority of programs focus on attracting young people to the industry or educational endeavors to identify and solve industry needs and/or challenges.

Educational Grants must provide a benefit to a broad geographic area (preferably national in scope), and for a broad industry constituency within the United States. AFE has supported many organizations throughout our history including the FFA, the National Floriculture Forum, the SAF Pest Management Conference, National FFA Foundation, and America In Bloom, to name a few.

AFE is committed to the education of the future leaders of the floriculture industry.

James & Helen Phillip Scholarship Grant

The James and Helen Phillip Scholarship Fund was established to honor James and Helen Phillip by providing scholarship assistance to students in need who are interested in careers in the retail sector of the floral industry. The Fund was established by a $500,000 donation by their daughter, Lee Phillip Bell in 2008.

This scholarship provides grants to institutions to distribute to students primarily in the Great Lakes region, however, they also will be available to worthy applicants from elsewhere in the country.

HERITAGE CIRCLE

In 2008, the AFE Board of Trustees announced the establishment of the Heritage Circle – an honorary organization composed of persons who have made provision for a planned gift to AFE through a bequest, a life insurance policy, a trust or otherwise, such as a retirement plan beneficiary designation.

The establishment of the Heritage Circle affords AFE an opportunity to extend our warm appreciation to individuals who notify us of their thoughtful gift intentions.

This page lists the current industry members who have already made provisions for a planned gift to AFE and are part of the Heritage Circle.

If you have already arranged for a planned gift to benefit AFE, we welcome you into the Heritage Circle. If not, we invite you to consider a bequest or other arrangement. We would be pleased to send you further information and, if you wish, meet with you personally to explore the various options. In addition, there is a great deal of information regarding how to go about setting a planned gift to AFE, at www.endowment.org.

Your support can provide vital assistance to AFE in our efforts to fund research and scholarships that are so critical to the industry. We need your help – and we look forward to expressing our gratitude through the new Heritage Circle.

For more information about the AFE Heritage Circle, contact AFE at (703) 838-5211.

TRIBUTES

Tributes are a special way of honoring individuals, families and organizations. Tributes provide a tangible way of expressing care, saying thank you for a friendship, or acknowledging a customer.

A minimum contribution to the Endowment of $1,000 is required to establish a tribute. The family or organization is always notified of contributions. Additional contributions to any of the Tributes listed can be made at any time by sending your contribution to AFE, designating it to the named Tribute.

Living Tributes

Living Tributes allow fellow workers, associates and industry members to honor outstanding achievements and regard of living industry members. All honoree's names are listed on the AFE Website. Below are the Living Tributes established with AFE as of July 30, 2010.

AFE CONTRIBUTOR RECOGNITION

Contributions build and sustain funding for research and education – the individual and company names that follow are industry members joining together for solutions now and for the future.

All individuals and organizations making a contribution to the American Floral Endowment are listed in this report. This list reflects generosity and support through July 30, 2010.

Contributions are cumulative and provide a practical way of building individual and organizational participation. Recognition plaques are presented annually to those reaching each level beginning with the Protector Level.
