The Young Professionals Council enables members to participate in industry events, and offers leadership and networking opportunities, as well as volunteer opportunities with the American Floral Endowment.

"The best thing about YPC is that it gives us a voice in the industry - to help improve the future of floriculture."

Young Professionals Council
Bringing young industry professionals and vibrant students together to build a stronger floriculture industry.
YPC members are given the opportunity to share their ideas, collaborate with influential industry members and help promote and support AFE’s mission by bringing fresh, energetic leadership to their roles. They also interact with other young professionals with similar interests and career goals, and attend special YPC events during industry conferences.

YPC members:
- Collaborate with other young professionals interested in becoming active in the industry
- Participate in one or more volunteer activities (i.e., scholarship review, fundraising dinner efforts, article/social media contributions, etc.)

Are:
- 21-35 years old and live in the United States
- Raise awareness about AFE and the floriculture industry through marketing, social media and events
- Are ambassadors for AFE and expand our network of friends and supporters
